

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK of the UNITED STATES

Ex-Im Bank helps U.S. companies to sustain and create jobs by financing U.S. exports.

BRETT M. DECKER

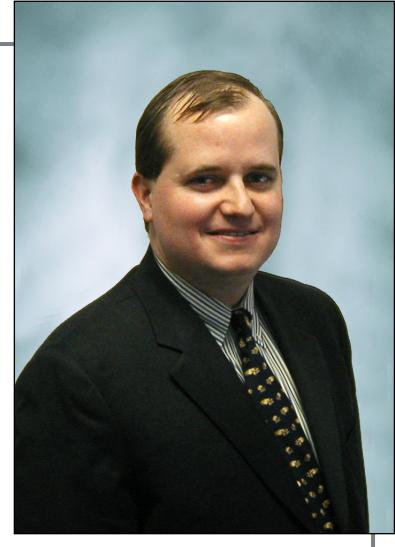

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS

Brett M. Decker is Senior Vice President for the Office of Communications at the Export-Import Bank of the United States. The office encompasses the Bank's public affairs, external affairs and marketing divisions. As a member of the George W. Bush Administration, he articulates the Bank's mission of supporting U.S. jobs through exports. Decker joined Ex-Im Bank in June 2004 after being appointed as a speechwriter and spokesman.

Previously, he was based in Hong Kong as an editor and editorial page writer for The Wall Street Journal. He has held positions on the Editorial Board of the Washington Times, as national political reporter for the Evans & Novak Inside Report and television producer for the cable program Insights with Robert Novak. Decker served as a speechwriter to Majority Whip (now Majority Leader) Tom DeLay in the U.S. House of Representatives.

A former Governor of the Hong Kong Foreign Correspondents' Club, Decker has written hundreds of articles for publications such as the New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, the International Herald Tribune, Far Eastern Economic Review, and International Economy.

A native of Michigan, Decker has a bachelor's degree in political science from Albion College, a master's in government from Johns Hopkins University, and currently is pursuing a master's in national security policy at the U.S. Naval War College.
